BASIC MASONRY TRAINING

Water spreading weir Construction for rehabilitation Of dry valley

Background

Live of the pastoralist and agro pastoralist is deteriorating from time to time due frequent drought. As a result, their resilience capacities have been compromised due to climate change. However, the pastoralist and Agro Pastoralist communities have very limited opportunities to strengthen their resilience capacity. Especially the employment opportunities for youth are very insignificant.

In order to cope-up, the job opportunity problem Gode Polytechnic College in collaboration with giz have organized basic masonry training for the youths to enable them undertake different construction works while they are learning doing water spreading weir to help rehabilitation and conservation of the natural resources.

Group Discussion

- What are the opportunities and needs for skilled technicians in lowland development?
- How do we go forward and organize an integrated capacity building program? Would a consortium be useful? What would it look like?
- Who may fund capacity building activities, what would be the funding arrangements
